MANIFOLD ARE THE SINS OF NEWSPAPERS

Perceval Chubb Enumerates Some, Chieflv Omission, Business Office Domination and the "Dressing Up" of Scandal, of Which He Disapproves.

By Edward Allen Jewett

Perceval Chubb, in his familiar articles of "Cassette" for St. Louis, has enumerated the sins of newspapers. The following are some of his chief complaints:

1. Omission. "The public, we are told, is interested in news, yet the papers are afraid to give it.
3. "Dressing Up" of Scandal. "The newspapers make a show of scandal, but do not reveal the true facts."

Perceval Chubb believes that newspapers should be more truthful and less sensational. He advises the editors to give the public what they want, and not what the business office tells them to give.

Sunday Papers Strike Him as a De¬

F L TATION of the Sabbath and Productive of Fearful Mental Turmoil—Comic Supplements Inane and Stupid.

Sunday papers are a sin, declares Mr. Chubb. He says that they are a sin because they are in keeping with the "Dressing Up" of scandal, and because they are a violation of the Sabbath.

Mr. Chubb is opposed to the use of comic supplements in Sunday newspapers. He believes that they are inane and stupid, and that they are a hindrance to the serious reading of the news.

In his conclusions, Mr. Chubb says that newspapers should be more careful in their selection of material, and that they should not be a part of the entertainment industry.

The end of the world will come, he says, when newspapers become the only source of information for the people. He advises the editors to be more faithful to their duties, and to give the public what they need, not what they want.
